ABSTRACT

Literature and psychology share a strong correlation since both depict varied human emotions. Therefore psychological dimensions of human beings greatly help to understand human nature. Hence this paper attempts to give an analytical peep into the most complex psychological issues of multiple identities. A mental condition where individuals identify themselves with distinct character traits that lead to a state of confusion where they do not understand who they are? Hermann Hesse skillfully utilizes this theme of multiple identities in his novel Steppenwolf. His protagonist Harry Haller suffers from the same psychological condition of multiple identities and his struggle to search for a unified self. He does not find reconciliation between different personalities of himself and parishes mentally into an utter trauma. This is not specifically the problem of the protagonist Harry Haller but a general condition of every human being. This paper further explains how the reconciliation of the opposite is the only way to achieve peace with self. The paper is useful to understand and analyze the core intricacies of human psychology through the analytical exploration of the protagonist's experiences.

THEME OF EXISTENTIAL CRISIS IN HERMANN HESSE'S BENEATH THE WHEEL

Ms. Sushma Kumari*
Dr. Ravi Kumar Mishra

ABSTRACT

*There are lot many societal challenges and pressures; the youth is facing, for instance, over expectations of the adult world and pressures of the competitive world. Henceforth, these mental and environmental challenges lead these tender minds affected adversely emotionally as well as physically. Consequently, these afflictions manifest adversely as, poor academic performance, low self-esteem, emotional insecurities, and lack of motivation, drug addiction, and even self-destruction in terms of committing suicide. Specifically suicide seems to be of sincere concern that has become a major problem to deal with among the youth in present times. Hermann Hesse has skillfully projected the theme of this crisis in his novel Beneath the Wheel (1906). Where his protagonist Hans Gibenrath the protagonist of the novel experiences varied existential conditions and finally reaches the movement where he questions the authenticity of his own existence. Finding no satisfactory answer he committed suicide. The objective of this paper is to explore and analyze the theme of existential crisis in Hermann Hesse's novel Beneath the Wheel. This study is also undertaken to identify the conditions responsible for the occurrence of existential crisis and its consequences. Therefore Hermann Hesse severely focuses on the universal problem of the youth who find themselves incapable to cope up with the existential crisis; a crisis which is the result of social forces and individual choices.*

Keywords: Existential Crisis, Freedom, Choice, Anxiety, Suicide

INTRODUCTION:

Hermann Hesse who was undeniably a through and through an existential thinker was always preoccupied with existential thoughts. The problem of meaning of life, absurdity, alienation, anxiety, and a search of meaning of life are the most recurrent themes appear in his novels. He proficiently delineates the inner conflicts of the individuals as, their fears, anxieties, guilt emotional vulnerability and mental trauma. Hesse's protagonists are generally mentally strong and courageous who have the strength to break away from the set norms of society and seek their path. They avail of their prerogative of freedom and make their own choices in the journey of self-actualization. And finally, through the existential crisis, they attain the true essence of their existence. Hans Gibenrath, in this context, is a way ahead of all those protagonists who do not compromise with their secure lives and set on the journey of self-search. Though he commits suicide yet his suicide shows his strong denial in surrendering to the life chosen by others to him. At the same time Hesse also alludes to the fact that lack of understanding of the experience of existential crisis may lead to unfavorable consequences; the consequences, which can be avoided or

Conceptualizing Desert as a Metaphor in Paulo Coelho's the Alchemist

Dr. Sushma Kumari

Assistant Professor, Department of English, Government Degree College, Rakkar,
District, Kangra, Himachal Pradesh

ABSTRACT

Literature is one of the finest mediums of artistic endeavour for expressing one's perception of the physical and metaphysical world. Literary artists use a variety of literary devices to enrich and make their work more meaningful. The exquisite quality of literature lies in the beauty of expression, an expression that is both appropriate as well as compelling. Therefore, whatever observations, experiences, fancies, or imaginations literary artists communicate in literature, they express it in a deeper and enriched way to emphasize its profound impact. Furthermore, life is not as simple as we imagine but rather riddled with complexities. Thus, the expression and description of it also appears a little complex to apprehend, as pragmatic behaviour of life cannot be portrayed in linear expression and humble style of writing. The language of literature must have indirect conjectures in order to oblige readers to visualize life from a higher perspective by being visionary about it. Hence, the language of metaphors, allegories, and other literary devices should be incorporated to make language more vivid and meaningful to have a greater influence on the readers' minds. Metaphor is capable of expressing and conveying the more complex and subtle aspects of life in a very impressive manner. It leaves an indelible mark in the mind of the reader with its exquisite inscription of the implicit essence of life. As in the words of George Lakoff and Mark Jonson, "Metaphor is pervasive in everyday life, not just in language but in thought and action. Our ordinary conceptual system, in terms of which we both think and act, is fundamentally metaphorical in nature." (Lakoff and Jonson 3) Thus, Lakoff and Johnson have eloquently and vehemently mirrored the inevitability of the use of metaphors in everyday life. Paul Coelho is one of the luminaries of the literary world who has shown a profound proficiency in employing this literary device in the majority of his illustrious literary inscriptions. The Alchemist is one of his excellent and treasured literary inventions in which he amply applies various literary devices. In this research paper, the metaphor device has been chosen to explore the literary expression of the pragmatic aspects of life. Though Paulo Coelho has used various metaphors to enrich his work, the metaphor of the desert has been explored from different perspectives in the study to realize the multidimensional meaning it delivers about the pragmatic life of human beings.

Keywords: Metaphor, Desert, Quest for Self-Realization, Obstacle, Personal Legend

INTRODUCTION

Metaphors are used to intertwine apparently unrelated concepts with a novel perspective. It transforms and mirrors the hidden meaning of the alien aspects of universalities. The literary meaning of metaphor in the Merriam-Webster dictionary is "a figure of speech in which a word or a phrase, literally denoting one kind of object or idea, is used in place of another to indirectly insinuate the meaning of the subject in a hilarious style of writing to woo the writer the writer towards the inscription." Thus, it is an effective literary device that infuses distinct vitality to the bare and arid expressions. Thus, by using various metaphors, Paulo Coelho instills richness and gravity to his depiction of Santiago's existential journey in his most popular inscription, The Alchemist, which creates an invincible record of readers as it was bought by millions of people across the world. Paulo Coelho's protagonist, Santiago, is a shepherd who follows his dreams in the search of his Personal Legend. He starts his voyage for the said purpose from the pastures of Andalusia in Spain, and after crossing through the Sahara desert, he reaches the Egyptian pyramids, where he eventually discovers his Personal Legend.

The profound impact of this text lies not only in its story but also in its language, which is immensely rich in literary devices. Paulo Coelho used numerous metaphors in The Alchemist to candidly bring the idea home to his readers. Metaphors are the essential components of literary expression that provide the transparent image of the disguising complexities of the thoughts in an effective and cherished manner. The focal point of this paper is to explore and analyze the metaphor of desert, which makes this text an interesting description. Landscape of the Desert as a metaphor has been used in literature for centuries. The glaring and mysterious beauty of the sprawling desert with sandy mounds becomes the alluring theme for the literary artists. After having captured the intrigue, complex but rather rich natural tapestry on the desert landscape, Swami Vivekananda said, "The desert is no longer a landscape; it is a pure form produced by the abstraction of all others...apparently the desert is very simple, but it's full of life; it's of hidden places."

ABSTRACT

Online mode of learning requires new type high-tech infrastructure, compatible digital gadgets, high speed and affordable internet connectivity and most importantly technical know-how to use the technology. It was very challenging to cope with the sudden change in teaching- learning pattern caused by COVID-19 lockdown. This study tries to investigate the awareness, experiences and identify the challenges faced by school teachers in Himachal Pradesh during the online teaching learning process. This is primary data based study information provided by school teachers through Google Forms. The study reveals that despite advantages of online teaching learning like flexibility, students' friendly, creative etc. There is lack of face to face interaction, problem of internet connectivity, absenteeism and difficulty in students' evaluation process.

1. INTRODUCTION:

Reaching students through live classes both educational institutions and students require high speed internet, infrastructure etc. Online education is not just oral presentation of content by teachers through mobile/laptop/computer or it's not listing at other end by a student but it posed many challenges right from no experience to conduct/attend live class by teacher and student, to lack of early preparation or support from educational technology teams.(Wang et al.2020). Studies reveals that teachers and students have faced many difficulties during online learning due to lack of technical knowledge, unavailability of compatible digital devices, unaffordable internet data

FACTORS INFLUENCING SAVING AND INVESTMENT DECISIONS: AN ANALYTICAL REVIEW OF SELF-EMPLOYED AND SALARIED CLASS

Shweta Kohli

ABSTRACT

Investment preferences change from person to person since each individual invests differently. Individuals invest in a variety of financial instruments with the hope of generating significant returns over time and taking on certain amounts of risk. Saving and investing are crucial aspects of financial planning for individuals, whether they are self-employed or part of the salaried workforce. Understanding the factors that influence these decisions can help individuals make informed choices to secure their financial future. So, this analytical review explores the factors influencing saving and investment decisions among the self-employed and salaried class. The study looks into the demographic, psychological, and socioeconomic factors that influence financial behaviors in these various groups. This research contributes to a deeper understanding of how diverse professional backgrounds impact financial decision-making, offering practical implications for financial advisors, policymakers, and individuals aiming to optimize their financial well-being.

Keywords: Investment, savings, Financial behavior, Financial planning, self-employed, salaried class

INTRODUCTION

Financial planning and investing are essential components of each individual's life, particularly in today's society, where the value of everything is measured in monetary terms. Human life has a short active working lifetime when compared to its overall life span. This implies that people will spend nearly the same number of years in retirement as they spent throughout their active working careers. Therefore, saving and investing while working is essential for making sure that people can continue to earn money and live well. Investment preferences change from person to person since each individual invests differently. Individuals invest in a variety of financial instruments with the hope of generating significant returns over time and taking on certain amounts of risk. Today, an individual has a range of investment ways available to him, and after a thorough market analysis based on his needs and circumstances, he must determine which investment channel to pursue.

Literary Creativity and Artificial Intelligence: A Comparative Approach

Dr. Sushma Kumari

Assistant Professor, Department of English, Government Degree College, Rakkar,
District, Kangra, Himachal Pradesh

Article history: Received: 5 January 2024, Accepted: 15 February 2024, Published online: 01 March 2024

ABSTRACT

Ancestries of human intelligence and conduct are traced back to the unique combination of genetics, upbringing, and exposure of human beings to various situations and environments. It entirely depends upon the individual's wisdom to illuminate and incubate new ideas to give new shape to the existing world. It is a cognitive ability that is inherently built in an individual to think, excavate, evaluate facts, and make additions to the existing ideas in the world. It facilitates new research and development and makes the world experience new technological horizons in all spheres of life. The purpose of human intelligence is to integrate and conglomerate a range of cognitive activities to adapt to new circumstances. It makes people use their memories, processing capabilities, and cognitive talents that their brains provide to them. Artificial intelligence is based on human insights by which a machine is discovered to actualise all kinds of work effortlessly. Artificial intelligence is structured rather than engaging in diverse sources of inspiration or conducting independent research. It obstructed the researchers' efforts to analyse and interpret the facts thoroughly and minutely to draw conclusions and develop new ideas to facilitate people's efforts to provide a big thrust to the economic development of their respective nations.

Keywords: Creativity, Human Intelligence, Technological Horizon, Artificial Intelligence

INTRODUCTION

If COVID-19 had not impacted us, what would our outlook towards implementing technological methods in the Indian education system? Probably the scenario would differ significantly, as the whole world was complacent with the available resources it had before the outbreak of the terminal pandemic in 2019. It exposed the economic standard and the preparation of all countries to face the vagaries of nature and woke them up to reconsider their economic policies of "Pseudo Development," which forced them to exploit natural resources that support human beings to live a healthy life.

The advent of the pandemic COVID-19 is just a warning of a potential catastrophe and has awakened the world to reconsider its preparedness to face such lethal pandemics in the future. It has truly brought about a technological revolution across the globe in all sectors of the economy. However, COVID-19 has forced all nations to have a harsh experience and bitter memories; it has awakened the world to reassess its developmental policies and take positive measures to streamline the information and technology sector to efficiently handle such impending disasters.

In the words of Daniel Kahneman on AI and human judgment, "AI has the potential to surpass human judgment in many areas, but it is crucial to understand that human intuition is shaped by years of evolution and experience." (Kahneman379) Artificial intelligence plays different roles and presents different challenges in various disciplines. Creativity is one such discipline where the use of artificial intelligence is always questioned and debated. The knowledge of artificial intelligence aims to replicate the human mind perfectly.

Creativity conventionally reflects human thought and intuition that arises from the unique and distinctive outcomes it generates. Creative writing seeks to engage, educate, and motivate its audience, whether through written or spoken forms. The utilisation of artificial intelligence in numerous aspects of life, specifically writing, brings about transformations and presents many challenges in the literary world. With the swift advancement of technology, artificial intelligence affects the creativity of authors. Thus, research on artificial intelligence in the contemporary sophisticated world has gradually become a significant subject.
